

Modern Slavery Statement

Updated statement for the period 1 January 2024 – 30 September 2025

This statement is made pursuant to Section 54 of the UK Modern Slavery Act 2015 and constitutes the modern slavery and human trafficking statement for Moonlight Topco Limited, parent company of Medica Group (made up of Medica Group Limited and its subsidiaries)

Introduction

This statement builds on our 2024 annual report and provides an update on the significant steps we have taken in 2025 to strengthen our policies and processes. This ensures that our submission to the UK Government's Modern Slavery Assessment Tool (MSAT) in October 2025 provides an accurate and comprehensive picture of the steps we are taking to prevent modern slavery and human trafficking in our operations and supply chains.

Our commitment

We are committed to operating ethically and sustainably and respecting human rights in all aspects of our business. We recognise all internationally recognised human rights principles, including the Universal Declaration of Human Rights and the International Labour Organisation's Declaration on Fundamental Principles and Rights at Work. We take our responsibility to respect human rights seriously and are committed to ensuring people are treated with dignity and respect throughout our operations and supply chains. In line with the UN Guiding Principles on Business and Human Rights, we are strengthening measures to identify, prevent and eradicate exploitation in all its forms.

Key actions in 2024 and 2025

We have taken significant steps to strengthen our approach to tackling modern slavery and human trafficking. These have included:

- Policy – developing a Human Rights Policy aligned with UN Guiding Principles and introduced a Supplier Code of Conduct aligned with International Labour Organization (ILO) standards.
- Benchmarking – as part of a wider strategic review of ESG, engaging a specialist external consultancy to help us assess and benchmark our human rights practices.
- Risk assessment – completing a group-wide mapping of Tier 1 suppliers across multiple geographies and identified high-risk sourcing countries.
- Due diligence – developing an enhanced supplier onboarding process and began securing acknowledgement of our Human Rights Policy and our Supplier Code of Conduct from priority suppliers.
- Governance, monitoring and review – establishing a C-suite led ESG Steering Group to oversee ESG progress, including modern slavery, and benchmarking our progress using the UK Government's Modern Slavery Assessment Tool.
- Training – delivering Modern Slavery Awareness training to 99% of employees (UK).

Our people

Medica employs 413 people in the UK, Ireland and the United States in a range of operational, clinical, leadership and support roles. We are committed to providing a safe, fair and respectful working environment, and our employment practices are designed to uphold international labour standards.

Key elements of our approach include:

- Fair pay – in the UK, we are an accredited Living Wage Employer with the Living Wage Foundation, ensuring that all employees are paid at least the Real Living Wage.
- Wellbeing and support – we provide all employees with access to wellbeing initiatives, including mental health resources and an Employee Assistance Programme. We invest in technology, including AI, to automate routine tasks and reduce repetitive workload.
- Employee voice – we conduct annual employee engagement surveys and provide staff with ongoing opportunities to share feedback through an online platform.
- Equality, Diversity and Inclusion (EDI) – we have an active EDI group to ensure all voices are heard and acted upon.
- Recruitment – we recruit all employees directly or through reputable agencies, with strict compliance checks to ensure no recruitment fees, illegal deductions or exploitative practices.

Supply chain and due diligence

Medica operates across the UK, Ireland, and the United States, working with a wide range of suppliers to deliver specialist healthcare and clinical trial services. While our initial assessment indicates that our Tier 1 supply chain is overall low risk, we recognise that certain industries and geographies carry higher risks, particularly lower down the supply chain. We have identified medical consumables, facilities services, outsourced services, construction and building repairs, hotels, accommodation and events as priority suppliers for further assessment.

Initial supply chain mapping and risk assessment

In 2025, we completed a group-wide supply chain mapping exercise. This identified supplier relationships across the UK, Ireland and the US, and in other countries including China, Germany, India, Japan, Malaysia, Sweden, the UAE, Indonesia, and Australia.

Fig 1: Map indicating the countries where Medica has operations and mapped Tier 1 critical suppliers

We carried out a geographical assessment of modern slavery prevalence using a global risk rating system. This produced the following results:

	Industry(s)		Location(s)
	Health Care Delivery	Software & IT Services	Australia	China	Germany	India	Indonesia	Ireland	Japan	Malaysia	Sweden	United Arab Emirates	United Kingdom	United States of America
Labour practices ¹	N/A	N/A	4.98	8.30	1.66	8.30	8.30	1.66	3.32	8.30	1.66	8.30	6.64	6.64
Modern slavery prevalence ²	N/A	N/A	0.40	2.43	0.10	5.81	4.71	0.19	0.10	4.33	0.17	10.00	0.57	1.83

Our assessment indicated that our core operations (UK, Ireland and US) have a low risk of modern slavery but some of our supply chains (including medical consumables, and hotels in UAE) are associated with higher risk regions.

Our analysis suggests that our highest modern slavery risk arises from the procurement of medical consumables for operations in Ireland, where we operate patient facing clinics. These consumable items are supplied by Ireland-based distributors, but the products originate from global industries such as textiles and disposables, where modern slavery and labour rights risks are recognised as being high. As a result of our review and findings, we are now prioritising these suppliers for further due diligence actions and will be undertaking detailed Tier 2 mapping over the next 12 months.

The risk from consumables and textiles does not extend to Medica's UK client services as these are delivered through teleradiology and telepathology. Our UK risk exposure is mainly with technology, IT infrastructure, facilities and professional services. While we consider our UK supply chain to be relatively low risk, we recognise the importance of going beyond Tier 1 suppliers to fully address the risks of modern slavery. Over the next 12 months we will undertake Tier 2 and upstream due diligence to build a clearer picture of product origin and labour practices risks.

Our structured approach

To manage risks consistently across the Group, we apply a three-stage process:

1. Initial assessment – recording and categorising suppliers, completing financial, patient care and data production checks, and confirming compliance of UK suppliers who are required to publish modern slavery statements.
2. Risk prioritisation – assigning Red-Amber-Green (RAG) ratings to suppliers, and identifying higher-risk categories such as consumables, facilities services, outsourced support, and certain IT providers.
3. Due diligence – requiring acknowledgement of our Human Rights Policy and Supplier Code of Conduct, sending questionnaires to higher-risk suppliers and following up any concerns identified.

Supply chain improvement actions in 2025

In addition to publishing our Human Rights Policy and Supplier Code of Conduct, in 2025 we are issuing new documents to priority suppliers (requiring acknowledgment) and updating supplier record systems to track risk ratings and due diligence progress. We established a framework and systems to deliver detailed supplier due diligence and commenced delivery actions, including issuing questionnaires to all red-rated suppliers. We will review responses requiring any corrective actions to be treated as a matter of urgency. Findings from this process will be reported in our next annual statement. (Supply chain targets are set out below in our "Targets and Future Plans" section.)

Our policies

Our policies set clear expectations for employees, suppliers, and partners regarding modern slavery and human rights. These policies are reviewed annually to ensure alignment with international standards and best practice.

In 2025, we strengthened our policy framework by establishing:

- A Supplier Code of Conduct – this code establishes clear requirements regarding labour rights, working conditions, and ethical business conduct. It is aligned with the International Labour Organization (ILO) Core Conventions and the Ethical Trading Initiative (ETI) Base Code.
- A Human Rights Policy – this policy sets out Medica's commitment to respect and protect human rights across its operations and supply chains. It is aligned with the Universal Declaration of Human Rights, the ILO Declaration on Fundamental Principles and Rights at Work and the UN Guiding Principles on Business and Human Rights.
- An Extended Supplier Due Diligence Procedure – this procedure strengthens onboarding, monitoring and risk assessment of suppliers by increasing the focus on identifying and mitigating modern slavery risks.

We publish these policies on our website, distribute them to all employees and suppliers and embed them in our procurement and contract management processes.

Training and awareness

We believe that raising awareness and building knowledge across our workforce are essential to ensuring that modern slavery risks are identified and addressed.

In 2024, we introduced a modern slavery course to ensure employee awareness of our policy. This course included a seven-minute awareness video from the UK Gangmasters and Labour Abuse Authority (GLAA) and an introduction to the Medica Modern Slavery Policy. Participation was mandatory for all departments and job levels, and the completion rate was 99%.

We are currently developing role-appropriate training for:

- Procurement and contract managers – identifying and addressing modern slavery risks in supplier relationships, due diligence and contract management.
- General employees – raising awareness of modern slavery and the signs to look for and explaining how to escalate concerns through internal reporting channels.
- Board and senior leadership – reinforcing accountability at the highest level, with emphasis on governance responsibilities and oversight.

We are also developing training for contracted reporters (teleradiology and pathology service suppliers) to ensure they are fully aware of Medica's Human Rights Policy and Supplier Code of Conduct, their own ethical responsibilities and how they should report concerns.

We will be designing, piloting and delivering these programmes over the next year and tracking completion using the MyCompliance platform. We will also be introducing materials for suppliers to ensure they are aware of Medica's standards and to support them in strengthening their practices.

Whistleblowing, feedback and wellbeing

We recognise that providing safe and accessible channels for raising concerns is central to ensuring modern slavery risks are identified and addressed. We encourage employees, suppliers and external stakeholders to speak up if they witness or suspect any unethical behaviour, including potential modern slavery or human rights abuses. We have established a clear procedure and service level agreement for responding to internal or external reports of suspected modern slavery.

Employees can raise concerns confidentially with HR or via: whistleblowing@medica.co.uk

We also carry out regular anonymous employee surveys and hold Town Hall meetings where employees can ask questions anonymously.

These mechanisms provide structured channels for feedback, helping management identify issues early and respond effectively.

We provide contracted reporters with dedicated channels for feedback and concern-raising through Ask Nicely and Microsoft Forms. We promote reporter wellbeing through:

- Flexible working hours – allowing teleradiologists to balance Medica reporting with NHS and other personal commitments.
- Access to a dedicated account manager – ensuring support and a clear point of contact.
- Technology solutions – reducing repetitive workload and improving efficiency.
- Professional development (CPD) – supporting development at no cost via Medica's in-house training facility.

Training and compliance systems include a comprehensive induction that all staff complete via the MyCompliance platform. This platform, which is also used to deliver ongoing compliance training and updates, provides a central record of completion that allows us to ensure awareness of policies. Contracted reporters are provided with Medica's policies via a central information hub.

External grievances, concerns and complaints can be raised by patients, medical staff, suppliers and other stakeholders through Medica's external feedback and complaints process. This is available on our website: medica.co.uk/feedback-complaints.

All reports are reviewed promptly, confidentially and sensitively. Where appropriate, they are escalated to the Group Head of HR. The most serious matters, including potential modern slavery concerns, are reported to the Medica Group Board and reviewed by the ESG Steering Group.

Governance, monitoring and improvement

We are committed to measuring the effectiveness of our actions and to continuously improving. We track our progress using the UK Government's Modern Slavery Assessment Tool (MSAT) and have governance and oversight at senior management and Board level.

The Group Head of HR is responsible for human rights, including modern slavery, and reports directly to the Board on these matters. This ensures that modern slavery is treated as a core people and compliance matter at the most senior level. Modern slavery progress is reported to the Board at least twice a year, with additional updates provided when significant milestones are reached, such as completion of supplier mapping or policy changes.

Following a review of how best to embed modern slavery and wider environmental and social issues into leadership decision-making, the Board agreed in 2025 to establish a new ESG Steering Group

medica: Modern Slavery Statement

chaired by the Group Head of HR. This group oversees environmental, social and governance progress across the Medica Group, including monitoring of modern slavery and related KPIs. It includes senior representation from our UK, Ireland and US operations to ensure that oversight reflects the full scope of our business and supply chains.

If cases of modern slavery are identified in our operations or supply chains, we will take immediate steps to protect and support the individuals affected, as set out in our Modern Slavery Reporting and Response Procedure. In line with the UN Guiding Principles on Business and Human Rights, our priority will be to work with the supplier or partner to remediate the situation and prevent recurrence. If a supplier failed to engage or improve, we would use our leverage to escalate. If necessary, and as a last resort, we would terminate the relationship. Throughout this process, remediation and victim support would be prioritised over commercial considerations.

In 2025, we engaged a third-party consultancy to review our Environmental, Social and Governance (ESG) materials and provide feedback to our Board. The consultancy also carried out an assessment of our modern slavery practices. The findings and recommendations from this review have been implemented to strengthen our risk assessment, supply chain due diligence and policies.

These steps assure our Board that our approach is credible, benchmarks against best practice and aligns with regulatory expectations. As this is the first year of our enhanced approach, our focus has been on mapping risks, strengthening policies and building governance structures. Although our work on supplier due diligence and remediation is at an early stage, we have set clear KPIs and timelines for early delivery of results.

Targets and KPIs (2026)

To ensure our approaches are measurable and transparent, we have established key performance indicators (KPIs) for 2026 as set out in the table below. This will enable us to track progress, assess effectiveness and report consistently in future statements.

We will review and update our KPIs at least annually to ensure they remain relevant, stretching, and aligned with both regulatory expectations and our commitment to continuous improvement. To ensure accountability at the most senior levels of the Medica Group, the ESG Steering Group will review KPI performance quarterly and report its findings to the Board.

We recognise that tackling modern slavery is an ongoing responsibility. We are committed to protecting people by continuously improving our policies and processes to ensure our supply chains are free from modern slavery and other human rights abuses. This statement has been approved by the Board of Directors of Medica Group on behalf of and its subsidiaries.
